This little dog is confused. Many of us are in the same dilemma. What is Christmas, anyway? What does it mean? Do the tinsel and decorations obscure the true meaning?

Christmas decorations, Christmas trees, Christmas gifts have their part in this greatest day of all the year, but back of them is the manger and the Christ Child, God's gift to mankind.

In the Church you will find the true spirit of Christmas in all its joy, beauty and sacredness. The Wise Men will become so real you will follow the star with them. With the shepherds on the Judean hillside you will hear the song of angels. You will go to Bethlehem where you will kneel before the King. Kneeling, you will find the true meaning of Christmas.

Will you come?

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth

for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive.

There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3)

For the sake of his community and nation.

(4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your present danger of inflation as real, and knows that besides the usual effect of robbing Americans of their savings, inflation would cause stepped-up gold outflow to our foreign creditors.

President Kennedy, in two speeches last week, recognized that a big push for higher wages can intensify the inflation peril. So, he asked members of the National Association of Manufacturers to think twice before increasing prices, and asked the AFL-CIO to keep their demands "responsible."

The very next day, Mr. Kennedy's Secretary of Labor, Arthur Goldberg, said that what the boss meant was that there is plenty of room for wage increases within the Government's economic policy. In fact, the Administration would encourage unions to demand wage boosts beyond modest ones within the limits of increases in national productivity. This would be all right, he wage rates.

The new Health, Education and Welfare program to aid young men rejected for military service because of health reasons is so logical the wonder is: "Why didn't somebody think of it before?"

Half of those called by Selective Service are turned down, the majority for physical reasons. But despite this previous pinpointing of a staggering volume of physical defects, nothing was done about it (except in cases of TB or VD where aid was as much to protect the community as the individual).

Under the new program, there will be state or local health department counselors at draftee examining stations. When treatment is not possible through private physicians, referrals will be made to public health facilities. Treatment is voluntary, not compulsory. At the present time no assistance is offered those rejected for "mental" reasons (including adaptability factors as well as low intelligence) who pose problems to our society perhaps surpassing that of physical rejec-

Obviously it is important to our nation that we have a healthy population as well as a hardy military force. And while the purpose of the project is to aid individuals, it inevitably will raise many rejects to future acceptability should military manpower needs later increase.

Pennsylvania will have four of the five pilot demonstration projects at armed forces examination stations in Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Wilkes-Barre. Experiments with various procedures will develop the best pattern for future national application.

Inevitably this program will contribute to some upgrading of our national health. The degree of its success could prove surprisingly high. And conceivably it could point the way to a future parallel plan of guidance aimed at assisting those rejected for mental rea-

This is a classic example of what a low-ranking and even obscure official can do before he can be stopped by his superiors. But the superiors up to the President have to assume full responsibility.

To most, this sounds almost ridiculous. They ask, can the office cat make decisions? The answer is that when an enormous organization gets to rolling, it can be stopped with great difficuty. Before a serious question reached the top for fina decision, many steps have been taken, many minor decisions have been made, many paths to authority have to be cleared and commitments are of her. The accident occured at payers' dollars than many of our undertaken which go into the

It is impossible to manipulate a government department without a routine that ties individuals rigidly to a system. Redtape is preferable to constant errors.

The foregoing prohibits not only armed force but also any other form of interference or attempted threat against the personality of the state or against its political, economic and cultural elements.'

General Taylor has no objection to combating Castro through the OAS, But Taylor vigorously contends that is insufficient and will take too long.

He warns Castro is actively seeking membership in the anti-West Warsaw Pact. Once Castro becomes a member of this Soviet bloc military alliance, his next move, Taylor asserts, will be to demand the U.S. relinquish its great naval base at Guantanamo Bay. That demand is certain to be backed by the Kremlin and its satel-mic opposition against Castro. General Taylor's argument that time is running out in dealing forcefully with Castro is strongly supported by a leading Democratic member of the Senate Foreign Relations Commitee. In a frank talk with President Kennedy, this influential Senator told him:

> "The Republicans are certain to make Cuba a hot issue in next year's congressional elecions unless something is done about it. This is a problem that can't be left for time to take care of, because time will only make it worse. This requires prompt and decisive action, and the sooner the better."

Urgently-Needed Reform-U.S. businessmen were sharply criticized by Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert Humphrey. Minn., in a report on his extensive Latin American trip to President Kennedy. Humphrey warned U.S. businessmen are in danger of having their concerns nationalized unless they give Latin Americans the opportunity to buy stock in them and to become officials of them. Humphrey held this is particularly necessary in Argentina, Brazil, Columbia and Peru. He also advised Central Inteligence Director John McCone that Russia is "buying off" lowsalaried Latin Amercian newsmen and editors. The Soviet is paying them to write friendly articles. Humphrey urged the U.S. undertake a vigorous program of "cultivating the Latin American press" . . . Another significant change in the Domincan Republic. One of the frustrating things about Christmas for all Christians is a sense of inadequacy - the sure knowledge that however much you give, it isn't enough to repay the original gift of Christmas. But I have even more complications: I can never even hope to keep up with all the nice things my fellow humans do for the world

Not even the organizations and, boy, have they come up with some original ideas for giving this year: the Press and ITU Auxiliaries are dressing dolls for Christmas; the Republican Women's Council gave a whole year's supply of vitamins for all the residents at the County

The Business and Professional last year it was a $100 for a visitpatients; this year another $100 for newborn babies. Seems Everybody has christening dresses and fancy dresses left over from their own children but shirts and diapers have usually had it by the time their babies outgrow them.

But it's not just the organization, each of which has its favorite Christmas project, most of which are a little more traditional; it's also the fact that all my friends are geniuses and think up the smartest things.

Yesterday, for instance, one of the cleverest presented me with a pink plastic mouse.

I can hardly add the sign that says "Peace . . . Good Will to Mice and Men" as one of my Christmas cards suggested, but Santa will have to add an additional "Ho!" to his "Ho-ho-ho" when he stops at our house this Fire Co. Aux.

> Among the most colorful items in our Shoe department are the Shelets by Handcraft; pretty little slippers made in one size to fit any foot. They sell for 2.50. In brilliant yarns, all are scallop-edged with gilt threads and have a cluster of gayer-than-gay seashells on each toe. In addition to the loveliest coral I've ever seen, there are Red, Blue, Pink, Orchid, Yellow, and, of course, Black and White.

One needn't be from Japan to appreciate the charm of the paintings on bamboo being sold in our Gift department for 5.00. These are long and narrow, rounded rather than flat, and just right to hang singly or en masse in a tall, slim wall space.

Equally international in flavor, for the person who is cosmopolitan in taste, are the inexpensive pieces of Delft Blue just arrived from Holland. These are not so precious as the Royal Delft, which we also stock, but are a very excellent copy manufactured in Delft, with much the same shade of blue and much the same styling. In the new selection are Boy and Girl figurines at 6.98 each; Tea Pots-one round and squat; one tall and slender, suitable for use as an instant coffee pot, at 7.50 and 5.98 respectively; planters, 10.00; tea cup and saucer, 2.25; demi tasse and saucer, 1.98; tiny shoes, 59c, larger ones up to 2.25; cow pitchers, 1.98; ash trays, 89c to 1.98; in Zenith ware, boy figurines in blue and girls in colorful costume, 6.98 a pair; cow figurines, 6.98, plus an array of wind mills, at varied prices; tiny men at 89c, and a variety of other novelties. Bowls are 13.50, while footed bowls are 10.50.

For the friend who "loves blue" . . . or the collector who is daffy over Delft . . . these are a most agreeable, not too expensive way to say, "Merry Christmas."

Another thing . . . Delft might be a wise gift to give your superstitious friends. You know . . . the ones who are always saying, "Good luck my way," and "Touch blue and your wish will come true." With Delft around it's easy to touch blue whenever there's a jinx lurking near, ready to stymie a dream!

By Marcia Clapp CAN you find the 12 toys Santa Jaus has under his arm ready to pack for Christmas? Since the doll is not yet dressed he is no doubt waiting for Mrs. Santa to finish it. The U.S. soldier belt with sword attached will surely make some little boy very happy

This charming print was made by an English printmaker, who signs himself Th. Nast, is one of many prints made by artists and engravers during the 19th century celebrating Christmas,

Here we have Merry Old Santa Claus smiling as he smokes his pipe. His fur cap decked with holly indicates he is about ready to deliver his gifts. All of these carefully drawn details we may bserve with our eyes. However, hing deeper which is not seen but felt, and that is the expression of loving kindness, generosity and gaiety of the Christmas season. That the artist is able to convey this message through symbols and skill adds depth and meaning which has lasting appeal.

3 Prints A Week Currier and Ives published about three prints a week for over afty years, selling over 7,000 prints amounting to millions in sales. This was the result of the rising middle class of the Federal era who liked owning fashionable y presented facts about the unknown and the familiar.

I hate having her call claim each applicant is thoroughly me her sister-in-law, investigated and screened.) What do you think of the idea: I don't want to waste my life living

RESPECTABLE AND LONELY Dear R And L.: In this big. wonderful world no one need be "lonely." Try to make YOUR SELF attractive and interesting to men and women. (Women have brothers, cousins and friends who are eligible.) Get out and do volunteer, political or church work. Make yourself useful and needed. Investigations and screening mean nothing. Most Lonely Hearts' Clubs and "Marriage Bureaus" are run for $$-not as a

Dear Abby: I am a 19-year-old girl with a problem I have never seen in your column. When I am on a dinner date with a young man and I am asked to order a beverage, I am stuck. You see, I love milk and drink it with all my meals at home, but it seems so babyish to order milk on a date. I don't drink coffee or tea, so it seems foolish to order it and take a few sips. It seems incorrect to THE MEN Over Retirement order no beverage with my dinner Age and Leisure Hour Clubs re- at all, yet I feel funny ordering
